The West Virginia Free Traders might try the cheap expedient of putting ice on their heads.

The argument of the $9 suit of clothes and genteel clothing in this country is not made dear by the Protective Tariff.

The argument of the desperate bushwhacking against the $9 suit is that the Free Traders are bound to have clothing dear if they have to spin the yarn of falsehood and weave the fabric of gross misrepresentation.

United States Senator Vest, of Missouri, one of the preferred henchmen of the Administration, in a letter to Mr. Charles N. Napton, Secretary of the Vest Democratic Club, of St. Louis, declared:
"Mr. Cleveland, in his message, for which I sincerely homor him, has challenged the I succeed before in the country to a second District, Peter Madden; Assessor, First District, Peter Madden; Assessor, Wr. Cleveland, in his message, for which I succeed before him to be a second District, Pater Madden; Assessor, First District, Pater Madden; Assessor, Second District, James Wilmoth; Country Surveyor, John B. Snyder.

The following resolution was enthusiassically adouted:

"Mr. Cleceland, in his message, for which I sincerely honor him, has challenged the Protected Industries of the country to a light of externination. The light is to the death." This is also abrutally frank way to put it. Are the people on the side of their industries, or on the side of their industries, or on the side of their industries, or on the side of the President and the industries of England? This is the question.

Mr. Pearson's exposition of the pottery swindle in the Mills bill is definite, clear and unanswerable. The bill strikes Wheeling' growing pottery industry in a vital spot. To say that this was not intended is to charge the men who framed the bi and the men who passed it with inexcusable blundering. They have not blundered, except on the political side. They knew what they wanted to do and they went about doing it. Their aim was to open the way for more of the products of the British potter. This is what their bill does, and it does it with a vengeance.

The Texas Plan.

It was in the United States Senate that Senator Coke, of Texas, said: "I will just say to the Senator that if there is any onething in this world that he average Texan would go any number of miles out is any one thing in this world that the average Texan would go any number of miles out of his way to kick and kill and destroy, it is a Protective Tariff."

Mr. Mills is an average Texan. He put through the House of Representatives a bill approved in advance by President Cleveland, later approved by the convention which nominated Mr. Cleveland, and endorsed by every Democratic stumper in the country—a bill to "kick and kill and destroy a Protective

Yet the people of this country are told by the President that the measure is "extremely moderate," and the people are expected to endorse the bill by re-electing Mr. Cleveland and sending to Congress men who will support every such measure that the "average Texan" or any other Free Trader may bring for ward. That is to say, the people are expected to vote away their birthright!

The Late Emperor Frederick.
The Dairy of the late Emperor Freder ick, of Germany, was written for him-self, not for the world. It was the record of his communings with himself. it throws the mirror into the soul of the man and shows him fit to be the ruler of a great people. It tells of his strug-gles, of his ambition to be a good and true ruler when his time to rule should ome. It shows that Frederick, not Bismarck, was the Father of United Ger-

The great world of to-day is little given to throwing up its cap for monarchs merely because they are monarchs, but the world will never outgrow its admira tion of men true and noble, whose character is refined in the fires of great suffering. "Unser Fritz," as the world will always delight to remember him, was tried and proved by such suffering mentally and bodily as falls to the lot of few.

A Stinging and Timely Rebuke.

The late General Conference of the Methodist Church condemned "the practice of campmeetings and Sunday school assemblies of our church in keeping open gates and charging admission fees on the Sabbath day." The West Virginia Conference just adjourned reallimed and endorsed this action, adding, "We will not attend or co-operate in any way with any campmeeting or association that permits the desecrations which have already been mentioned."

The reference of the West Virginia Conference to the Moundsville campground performances is too pointed to be misunderstood. It is not intended, to leave room for misunderstanding. The condemnation is leveled straight at the Sunday exhibition of the Two Sams Combination for the gate money. These mid departures from the true line are bination for the gate money. These
